Dr. R. Salwan
President
of Yardley, Pennsylvania, is accredited by the American Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry. Dr. Marus has demonstrated an insatiable passion and skill for creating beautiful celebrity smiles. Equipped with superior dental materials and artistic ability, he has achieved many smile makeovers of tremendous beauty and natural appearance. Dr. Marus sets the standard for excellence in cosmetic dentistry. A graduate of NYU College of Dentistry, Dr. Marus received his dental degree in 1985, completed his residency at the Jamaica hospital in New York and holds membership in The American Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry, The American Dental Association, The Pennsylvania Dental Association and the Montgomery-bucks dental society. Dr. Marus currently lectures to dentists on techniques in cosmetic dentistry and has been published in numerous national and international publications. Most recently, Dr. Marus has been featured as the cosmetic dentist on the CN8 television show "It's your call", hosted by Emmy-award winner Lynn Doyle airing in 13 states on the Comcast network.

The extreme makeover phenomenon has dominated television over the past few years. Showcased by the ABC show Extreme Makeover, this television coverage has been the opportunity to get the word out about what we do in cosmetic dentistry that changes people's lives.

Dr. Marus will discuss, in this course, his method of smile design using the intraoral composite mock-up technique. He will mock-up the maxillary anterior dentition with nanoglass microhybrid and nanoglass flowable composites using the principles of smile design. This technique is the essence of the smile makeover and will assist you in all cosmetic cases.

Learning Objectives:

- Learn the mock-up process of an anterior fractured central incisor and the maxillary anterior dentition.
- How to create a restoration using incremental layering with a nanoglass microhybrid composite via the Polychromatic stratification technique.
- Review many other clinical tips in composite placement and smile design.
